Alice was beginning to get very tired of sitting by her sister on the bank.
So she was considering in her own mind (...) whether the pleasure of making a daisy-chain would be worth the trouble of getting up and picking the daisies.
When suddenly a White Rabbit with pink eyes ran close by her.
The Rabbit said to itself, “Oh dear! Oh dear! I shall be late!’”
She had plenty of time as she went down to wonder what was going to happen next.

Domino's Pizza Delivery Robots

A huge pizza chain has officially announced the beginning of the trial period for autonomous pizza delivery robots. On Friday, the first successful pizza delivery was carried out by a robot dubbed DRU (Domino's Robotic Unit).

The company executives unveiled the robot on stage at a special event in Brisbane, making the audacious idea become reality. The robot uses on-board sensors to avoid obstacles and is navigated by GPS. It is powered by battery and is able to deliver pizzas within a 20-kilometer radius of a store, before returning to recharge. The robot contains hot and cold compartments for preserving the temperatures of both hot food and cold beverages.

Domino's is already well-known for using new technology fads in order to entice customers and make their services as practical as they can get.

DRU is designed to travel on bike paths and footpaths for the time being, while New Zealand is still working on regulations for driverless vehicles, such as this one.
